What is New Student Orientation?

New Student Orientation and Wildcat Welcome is a program designed to help our newest Wildcats become familiar with our campus while preparing for academic success. The New Student Orientation program includes academic advising, course registration, and opportunities to meet other new students. New Student Orientation is offered many times throughout the summer (May – August) with Welcome activities take place the week prior to and the first week of school. All of the orientation sessions and welcome activities are offered on campus.

What does an Orientation and Welcome Leader do?

Orientation and Welcome Leaders provide guidance and information about The University of Arizona to new students and their guests. Responsibilities of a leader include, but are not limited to:

- Representing student experience at the University of Arizona
- Taking initiative, following instructions, being flexible and punctual
- Leading student group discussions pertaining to University policies and environment
- Giving brief tours of campus and highlighting various aspects of campus life
- Meet, greet, and mingle with new students, parents, and guests
- Providing assistance with course availability and course registration
- Assembling of program materials, including folders and assisting with check-in
- Drawing from personal experiences to answer questions that may pertain to the UA with positive attitude and demeanor
- Answering repetitive questions while maintaining a positive attitude and demeanor
- Work hours during each program will include early mornings and late evenings often in the summer heat and will involve the lifting, carrying and sorting of boxes and paper, while guiding participants and assisting fellow team members with assigned duties.
